If you think picking it up is bad,
try swimming in it.

 DOO THE RIGHT THING

Think picking up after your dog goes to the bathroom is bad? Try swimming with it!

When you leave your dog's feces where it is, it can easily get washed into a storm drain, which leads to a lake or river.

Don't ruin someone else's day at the lake and pick up after your pet!

Leaving it in the water is NOT
the same as flushing it.

 DOO THE RIGHT THING

If your dog uses the bathroom in a body of water, you still have to pick it up! Leaving poo in the water is not the same as flushing it down the toilet. Bacteria from the feces infects the water, putting others in danger.

FECES IS A HUGE CONTRIBUTOR TO STORMWATER POLLUTION.

Dog waste can easily get into storm drains, lakes, rivers or streams. When waste gets into our watershed it contaminates our water resources and harms aquatic life.

RIGHT THING

Dog waste that gets left behind is hazardous to your health! When waste gets into storm drains, rivers or ponds, it puts us all at risk. "Doo" your part and pick up after your pet!

DOG FECAL MATTER CARRIES MANY DISEASES

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) has found hookworms, ringworms, tapeworms and salmonella in dog waste. Diseases or parasites can be transmitted to people from dog waste.

Exposed pet waste can cause an outbreak of diseases to humans and animals alike. "Doo" the right thing and always pick up after your pet.

PET WASTE IS HARMFUL TO YOUR YARD

Dog feces is not fertilizer for your lawn. Fresh waste can be toxic to soil and needs to be disposed of safely.

The myth that dog poop can be used as fertilizer has been debunked. Do not leave pet waste in your backyard! Waste sitting in your backyard will eventually runoff into our waterways, leading to health risks to your community.

PET WASTE ADDS UP QUICKLY

The average dog will discrete about three quarters of a pound of waste per day. This adds up to 275 pounds per year. That's as much as 4 labs!

Did you know there are about 1.5 million dogs in the North Central Texas area?

Talk about cuteness overload.

That's also a lot of doggy "doo." Always pick up after your pet and remind owners who don't why it's important!

FECES PUTS OTHER DOGS AT RISK

Parvovirus is a serious, highly contagious disease that can affect dogs of any age. A dog may be a carrier of the disease without even showing signs of being infected. The virus can remain infectious on the ground for six months or longer!

Have you heard about the dangers of Parvovirus? It's a very serious and contagious disease that affects a dog's intestine lining. This can lead to the dog vomiting, having a loss of appetite, depression and even death. "Doo" your part to stop the spread of parvovirus and pick up after your pet!
