Mobility 2050

The Metropolitan Transportation Plan acts as a blueprint to guide the spending of federal and state transportation funds in the Dallas-Fort Worth region for the next 20 years and beyond. The plan recommends projects, programs, and policies that aim to improve the quality of life for all residents in the region as part of an ongoing and collaborative planning effort. Home Survey

Welcome to our survey!

This survey, available during plan development, will help planning staff to understand how the transportation system is working for the public, and what needs to be improved. The results of this survey will help ensure the goals of Mobility 2050 are still meeting the needs of the Dallas-Fort Worth region.

The survey will take approximately 5-10 minutes to complete.

Areas of Public Concern

Increased transit coverage in suburban and rural areas

Perceived lack of funding for regional transit and last-mile connectivity

High traffic speeds threaten safety in school zones and neighborhood intersections

Poor signal synchronization causing traffic and safety concerns

Requests for wider, more protected, and clearly marked bicycle lanes

Frustration with highway lane widening not alleviating traffic congestion

Requests for densification and transit-oriented development to shift from roadway overreliance

Increasing advocacy for Texas Triangle High-Speed rail
