

Coordinated Land Use & Transportation Planning Task Force

July Focus: Mixed-use Development in North Texas

Mixed-use development in North Texas is becoming more common as our population grows and development patterns change. While increasing walkable places and mixed-use development can revitalize neighborhoods, stimulate local economies, and support active transportation, it also has its challenges. Join the July LUTTF meeting to hear a panel of your peer local governments tell their story of implementing mixed-use developments and gain useful insights for your community.
