Principle Performance Measures

1. Provide a staff coordinator to administer and manage the TRACS process
2. Review applications and log into the state’s TRACS system
3. Perform threshold test to determine which action is appropriate for applications received (accepted for review, waived from review, precluded from review, or optional review is needed because of regional/statewide significance or there is a request for review by applicant or a funding agency)
4. Prepare a project analysis of each application being reviewed
5. Notify all affected local governments, receive and include their comments
6. Communicate with applicants and assist them to strengthen applications as necessary
7. Serve as the liaison and representative to a three-tier level of review process – technical review performed by those whose expertise most closely matches the subject matter of the grant application; administrative review performed by a group of city administrators and management-level local government professionals from across the region; and policy review performed by NCTCOG’s Executive Board.
8. Present each application to the levels of review
9. Notify the funding agency and applicant of the TRACS process recommendation
10. Process all applications within a 60 days or less.
